IHAA Resident 2019-2020

How do you define home? For me, home is a place where I can safely grow better as a person, learn something new, and be more understanding about things that happen around me. IHAA ticks all the boxes. As a Fulbright Foreign Language Teaching Assistant from Indonesia, I also want to share Indonesian cultures and in exchange to learn other cultures as well. With more than 100 events each year, IHAA provides all things that I need. Ranging from cultural events, art shows, even political events, we can choose anything that interests us.

All these events show how much IHAA cares about the local and global communities. I am so grateful because here, everyone can be accepted regardless of their background such as nationality and religion. When I go back to Indonesia to teach Indonesian language to foreigners at my university, I will apply similar approach as IHAA. I want my future students find home in our community.

Thank you, IHAA!
